DOLLAR DAYS IN PORTERVILLE - FEBRUARY 1-2-3

Will Rocky Hold? Is Romney Dead? Will Reagan Rise? Is Nixon In? Can Johnson Win? Who's McCarthy?

By CLEM WHITAKER, JR.

Somehow the political picture hasn't worked out quite the way many people thought it would not too long ago.

Who would have imagined, for example, that Lyndon Johnson, after winning the greatest Presidential victory in history, would go into the home stretch of his full term severely challenged within his own party, with the old Democratic coalition which FDR built coming apart at the seams, and with his own popularity near rock bottom?

And who would have imagined as recently as November of 1967 that the Democrat who is challenging Johnson openly, Senator Eugene McCarthy, would turn out to be a lackluster campaigner with no real sense of organization or campaign strategy, shunned by many potentially natural allies because he was so quickly embraced by the peacenicks and the far-left kooks?

On the Republican side, who would have believed four years ago that Nixon and Rockefeller, the veterans who had been consigned to the political scrap heap by virtually everyone at some time or another, would go into 1968 as the real frontrunners for the GOP nomination?

And only a year ago, who would have imagined that George Romney could plunge so far so fast from leadership in the Republican sweepstakes (after an impressive, deserved 3rd term gubernatorial victory) to near-bottom among the ranks of Presidential contenders?

But the strangest thing about the whole picture is that nothing stays very long as it seems to be at the moment. Which is an Alice-in-Wonderlandish way of saying the political situation is still fluid.

For example, don't count Nixon in, and don't count Romney out, just yet. Even with big wins in the primaries, Nixon could still be done in by powerful Republican governors who might prefer one of their own. As for Romney, his hand-to-hand campaign style is tailor-made for rural New Hampshire, where only some 40,000 votes are needed to win a Republican primary, and a victory for him there (where he is now said to be better than 2-to-1 behind) would keep him alive in Wisconsin.

Keep a close eye on Wisconsin. If there had been no Democratic primary contest there, Democrats by the thousands probably would have crossed over to vote for Romney. But now with Sen. McCarthy contesting the President on the Democratic side, most Democrats will stay in their own political column to express a choice. Thus conceivably McCarthy may help secure a Nixon victory in Wisconsin, a victory which could be virtually fatal to the Romney campaign.

Meanwhile, Governor Rockefeller has removed just about the last doubts that he will be available if the draft blows his way, and there is no doubt of his growing strength and appeal at the moment throughout the party. The Gallup Poll shows that Rockefeller, along with Gov. Reagan, is gaining impressively in the eyes of GOP chairmen as a possible nominee.

Will Nixon fade? Will Rockefeller hold? Will Reagan rise? Is Romney dead? Can Johnson win?

Whoever comes out on top — whether it is Johnson, Rockefeller, McCarthy, Nixon, Reagan, Kennedy, Romney or Somebody Else — he will truly have earned The Title.

Production of carrots in California desert areas this year is estimated at 19 per cent above last year.

As of January 1, 4,135 acres of celery were growing in California, 40 acres less than a year earlier.

CONGRESSMAN BOB Mathias (R.-18th Dist.) discusses San Joaquin Valley water and drainage projects with William P. Gianelli, State Director of Water Resources in Mathias' Washington office. Gianelli and other members of Governor Reagan's cabinet accompanied the Governor to Washington last week for a series of conferences with Mathias and the other members of the California Congressional delegation. The purpose of the meetings was to discuss issues affecting California, including the Governor's drive to increase the 160 acre limitation on water from federal reclamation projects. Mathias said, "Our meetings with the Governor and his cabinet will result in closer coordination with Sacramento on matters of interest to California".

Beef And Dairy Club Meets At Animal Hospital

PORTERVILLE — Beef and Dairy club of Porterville High school held the January Club meeting at Dr. Floyd A. Elliott's new veterinarian hospital, where Dr. Elliot, one of the area's large animal veterinarians, toured the boys through the facilities and discussed the small animal facilities also.

He talked about blackleg and other deadly cattle diseases and pointed out that large project animals should be vaccinated or prevaccinated when first purchased.

The veterinarian hospital facilities consist of an ex-ray room supply rooms, a dark room, a surgery room, and a place to keep convalescent animals.

After the tour, Club President Dale Cranmore held a short business meeting with 24 members in attendance. Refreshments were served.

OUR TOWN

By Ruth Loyd

I'm sorry I've neglected you, but I have been so upset. I am so worried about Brenda Starr and Winnie Winkle. Those poor girls. Brenda and I have two things in common. We are both newspaper women, and have dyed red hair. At least Brenda has red hair on Sundays. I'm not too sure what color it is on weekdays. And personally I go for Brenda's man, that black eye patch gets me. Somehow Prince Jim, even if he can see double, leaves me cold. Things like this worry me. Uncle Buck always wears a black leather jacket when he is running around the HighChapperal, and I'm afraid he is going to have a sun stroke. That jacket looks much too hot to wear out in the desert sun. Maybe it doesn't get as hot there as it does here in the summer. Another thing, those ladies who sit on the front seat of those covered wagons in their low cut dresses. They're going to get one heck of a sun burn. You just can't shoot Indians correctly with a bad sunburn. That would smart something awful. And I do wish Hoss would find some nice girl and settle down.

Thirty-two Kiwanians from OUR TOWN went up to Hot Springs last Sunday to help the new Kiwanis club get started. Talk about hospitality! We had the best time, and met the wonderful people of Hot Springs. Not all men can wear Stetsons, but the Hot Springs men can. They all seemed to be tall and beautiful. Oscar Klein got my vote among all those good looking men. Winnie would flip if she saw him in his big hat. Of course I think Iris would take a dim view of Winnie, so she better stick to double vision Jim. Walt Pratt was his usual lovely self. He only yelled "OOOOOooooee" about four times, and each time the head table nearly fell off their chairs. The wheels from Los Angeles weren't too sure what was happening. Walt was.

GARLAND SHELTON, above, who was installed Tuesday evening as Noble Grand of Porterville Lodge No. 359, Independent Order of Odd Fellows. Other elective officers who will serve this year with him are: Cy Deatherage, vice grand; V.W. Hollandsworth, secretary; and Frank Bailey, treasurer. Appointive officers are: Bruno Gatlin, warden; Jerry Bentley, conductor; Howard Thogmartin and Joe Young, supporters to the noble grand; Vic Siward, chaplain; Ed. Canfield and Joel Upham, guardians; Charlie Flemming and Orville Dobbs, supporters to the vice grand; and Lloyd Anderson and T.J. Finnell, scene supporters. Installing officer was Al Barnes, of Fowler, district deputy grand master of district 105, and his staff.

WASHINGTON, D.C.—Charles (Bill) Wulff, of Porterville, has been nominated for the U. S. Military Academy at West Point by Congressman Bob Mathias. He is among 12 nominees from the 18th congressional district.

BATTI BROTHERS HAVE TOP HEIFER

TULARE — Batti Brothers had the leading first-calf heifer in the Tulare County Dairy Herd Improvement association during the month of December, a grade Holstein with 17,393 pounds of milk and 737 pounds of butterfat.

The old Rec. Hall was decorated in delightful western style. Someone had gone around and borrowed kerosene lamps for each of the tables. They were all lit and friendly. Around the hall were hung saddles and things you use around horses. Bales of hay and checkered table cloths made the room cozy, and ready for a good time. Local teenage girls waited on the tables, and if you think the men are good looking, you should see the girls. At each place was a Cow Belles' place mat with all the brands of the different ranches around the edges. It was fun to see the brands and the names of friends under their brands. There is a new air around Hot Springs. A friendly delightful feeling. A place to go to have a good time around lovely people. California Hot Springs Country.

Happiness is Brenda overcoming small pox.

From Daybell Nursery

By John

With the world in its usual turmoil we suggest you inventory the trees on your property and if you haven't a stout one to hide in you had better get one started. A good wide limb well above the ground is a secure place for man or beast. Especially if you choose separate limbs. The tree doesn't have to be elaborate just a good average but reliable one with a few thorns around the base and a hollow limb or two for sleeping.

It might be well to choose a walnut or pecan as they provide excellent food that can be stored easily. Besides which you would have some natural camouflage. We hesitate to mention that we have such things to sell but the truth will out and we do have some vigorous trees.

It wouldn't hurt to have some stout vines to swing around on. Keeps your feet off the radio-active soil. Grape vines are still one of the most trusted types and are especially recommended because of their possibilities for providing food. These may be grown from cuttings but if you want a years head start you might look at the several varieties in our stock. The wine grapes are especially good and the flat seeds are designed so as to not hurt your feet.

All this may be found on "E" Street just north of Olive where you may find nursery items which are usually obtainable in only a few of the West's better drug stores.

licized story, giving it the personal touch of one who was there when it happened.

Commander Robinson has appeared on TV, he has been the subject of a number of articles, and he has entertained audiences throughout California.

He is a graduate of Duke University; he commanded a PT boat for two years during the Solomon Islands campaign, participating in 119 combat patrols in which all but three of his original crew were killed or wounded and only three of the 12 boats in his original squadron survived.

Commander Robinson is now employed by Pacific

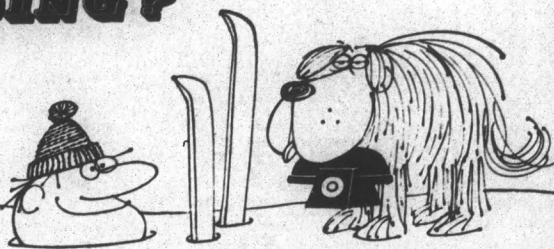

Telephone company and, with his wife and three daughters, resides in Sacramento.

On the chamber banquet program also will be the awarding of honors to Porterville's man, woman, and organization of the year; short presentations will be made by outgoing president Frank Kidder and incoming president Sandy Ward.

Decorations for the banquet will again be in the hands of the Porterville Garden club.

Ticket Chairman Gil Ynigues reports that sales are moving well, and that with 500 seating capacity in the Monache cafeteria, a sellout is indicated. Tickets are still available, however, from Porterville banks and at the Porterville chamber office.

WHAT'S DOING?

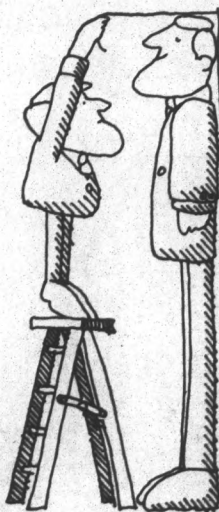

Have you ever received a misdialled call? Most of us have, I guess. And you know, many of these wrong numbers result from the party having the right number in mind, but accidentally dialing one number out of place. And just as one letter makes a big difference in a word, one number makes a big difference in a phone call.

Many people have found three easy ways to help their calls go through faster, easier and with less delay. They are simply:

- (1) look up the number before calling;
- (2) have paper and pencil near the phone and jot down the number before you phone; and
- (3) always watch the dial when dialing.

WNROG NUMBER?

What's 5 feet 9 1/2 inches tall, has shoulders 18 inches wide and talks in a booth? The answer, according to Bell System engineers, is the average man using a telephone booth in the United States these days. Measurements such as these help us in designing new telephone booths.

But if you happen to be a little larger or smaller than Mr. Average don't worry—the new booths have been designed so that 97 percent of the adult population can conveniently use them. And whether you're an occasional visitor to a phone booth, or "practically live in one" as some people jokingly put it, we're trying to make the phone booths you use as comfortable and convenient as possible.

In the past I've written about the jobs being done by our Operators, Installers, Repairmen and many more. Now, I'd like to tell you about our specialist business field — our Communications Consultant. It's his job to study a particular Porterville business, let them know what telephone equipment best suits their individual needs and to answer any questions about their service. The job performed by the Communications Consultant is another of the many services we offer at no added cost or obligation and is a vital part in providing good telephone service in Porterville.

Newly Created Board Holds First Meeting In Sacramento

SACRAMENTO - First meeting of the newly created State Water Resources Control board was held early in December in Sacramento, with Bill Alexander, of Porterville, a member.

As reported in Western Water News the board, which combines the functions of two previous organizations - the State Water Rights board and the State Water Quality Control board - was established, effective December 1, 1967, by enactment of legislation (AB 163) authored by Assemblyman Carley V. Porter, Chmn. of the Assembly Water Committee. It was signed by Governor Reagan on June 7.

The new board is composed of five members. George B. Maul of Placerville, Chmn. of the former Water Rights board, will continue as Chairman of the new board. Alexander and Ralph McGill of San Francisco also are carry-overs from the Water Rights board. Norman B. Hume of Pasadena and Edward F. Dibble of Redlands, new members, were recently appointed by Governor Reagan.

Members of the former State Water Quality Control board and the chairmen of the nine Regional Water Quality Control boards will constitute the new board's Water Quality Advisory committee.

This committee is required to hold public meetings at least once each quarter, and will advise the board concerning its responsibilities in water quality and water pollution control.

Kerry W. Mulligan is executive officer of the new board's staff, which is organized into four basic groups: division of water quality control, division of water rights, administrative services division and legal division.

Stanley Cosart, of Exeter, vice president; Matty Madsen, of Exeter, secretary-treasurer; Dwayne LaMunyon, of Exeter, parade captain and Allen Harris, of Tulare, parade lieutenant.

Harris, who has served as president for the past two years; Bill Clark, of Visalia; Posse officers; and Sheriff Bob Wiley make up the board of directors.

The Tulare County Sheriff's Posse was organized about 25 years ago; members meet monthly in various cities of the county; the Posse rides in about 24 parades a year - 12 inside Tulare county and 12 outside.

MODEL INSTRUCTIONAL CENTER AT MONACHE HIGH SCHOOL LIBRARY TO SERVE STUDENTS, EDUCATORS

PORTERVILLE - A model instructional materials center that will serve both educators and students from the Los Angeles area to San Jose has been approved for installation at the Monache High School library, has been announced by P.U.H.S. District Superintendent Tom Van Groningen.

In making the announcement Van Groningen stated that the federal government will provide $84,958 to help underwrite the project. He said the funds will be part of the money authorized by the Elementary and Secondary Education act.

"We are particularly pleased that the government has seen fit to make this money available to our district," Van Groningen stated, adding, "and this grant can only be taken as a tribute to the careful planning of the district's Board of Trustees and my predecessor, C. W. Easterbrook, who saw to it that the Monache High School library was built with just such a project in mind."

The project, which was approved by the State Board of Education on January 11, includes the purchase of 9,670 library books, 318 periodicals, 1,000 pamphlets, up to 1,000 slides, 300 maps and globes, and 300 records and tapes. It was designed to provide all the library and audio-visual services needed by a comprehensive four-year high school with students ranging in ability levels from slow to gifted.

When the project is in operation it will serve teacher trainees from Fresno State, San Jose State and California Polytechnic College at San Luis Obispo. It will also be used as a model facility by high schools throughout the state, and will be open to the public.

Project coordinator will be Mrs. Isabel Sunderland who has been Porterville High School librarian for the past five years. She will be assisted by Mrs. Edra Buckner who is now the Monache librarian, and Dr. R. H. Chamberlain, assistant principal for instruction at Porterville High, who will coordinate the audio-visual program. Additional personnel will be hired to do the cataloging and processing of the various materials as they are ordered and arrive.

"Under the instructional materials center concept," Mrs. Sunderland explains, "a student or teacher will be able to walk into the center, pick out the materials he needs, and view, listen, or read in seclusion. With this in mind the Monache library now has a film and materials preview room, study carrels and listening carrels with a combined seating space of 30 persons.

"In addition, the whole Monache High school complex was constructed so as to use educational television, with the conduits for a co-axial cable already installed to each major classroom building, making closed-circuit television possible to individual classrooms. Terminals for television are also installed at each of the instructional materials center listening stations."

Mrs. Sunderland, in telling what the project will do for students, says, "This will make it possible for the accelerated student to be his own taskmaster and progress as rapidly as he chooses. It will also enable the slow student to see and hear his lessons instead of relying solely on the printed word in the textbook. It should result in better learning for all students who use the center."

She notes that the materials purchased will enable the center to match the standards of the American Library association as they apply to both books and audio-visual materials.

"The plan also takes into consideration subjects sometimes overlooked in stocking a library," Mrs. Sunderland points out. "Since so many of our taxpaying owners earn their living in agriculture, we plan on placing a special emphasis in securing materials relating to agriculture. We will also emphasize homemaking, auto mechanics and business education in addition to the normal academic subjects."

Preliminary work in selecting materials to be ordered for the center has already started, Mrs. Sunderland states. As soon as written notification of approval of the project is received from Sacramento, she concludes, orders for most of the materials will be placed.

HOUSTON NO. 1 FOR 40 MINUTES; UCLA WILL BE NATIONAL CHAMPS

For the past several weeks the Houston-UCLA basketball game had been billed as the match of the century. As it turned out it was at least the greatest game in the history of televised basketball as the Cougars and the Bruins slugged it out on the floor of the Houston Astrodome. The Cougars' 71-69 win severed the Bruins' 47 game win streak and, more important, it showed that the Bruins, like the Titanic, can be sunk.

The Bruin loss was good for basketball. The methodic Bruin wins had become a bore, and I don't think anyone likes to see a game where the winner is foreknown. The UClans are not dead, they are probably still the best basketball team in the nation. Coach John Wooden's troops will return to the winning ranks and will probably go unbeaten during the remainder of the season. But, Saturday night Houston was a better team. Perhaps it was just for those 40 minutes, and I don't think that it could happen again this season, but Saturday night the Bruins were number two.

Houston has a great team. If there was a way to determine the best college basketball player in the nation Elvin Hayes certainly wouldn't take a back seat to anyone, including Lew Alcindor. The Big E dominated the game and in doing it he also dominated Alcindor. Big Lew was had. Hayes was nothing short of great in the first half when he blitzed UCLA with 29 points and took over both backboards as he muscled out the rebounds which, in the end, was the difference between winning and losing. But, the Cougars have problems. Their bench is not national championship quality. When Hayes and company got into foul trouble during the second half Saturday night they had to play under-wraps. They couldn't look to the reserves for much help. Someday this season the lack of a good top bench is going to hurt the Cougars. Of course, one of the most impressive things about the Houston win over UCLA was the fact that they won in spite of being in foul trouble. There is a lot of luck involved when you can keep an Elvin Hayes in the game during the final 11 minutes, after he has four fouls.

UCLA learned something in their loss. With a team as good as the Bruins, winning can become a habit and common place. The loss to Houston was a jolt that will drive the Bruins right into the national championship.

tions, and the National L-P Gas association.

Heading up the selection committee for Porterville Jaycees is Jack Shannon, a cattleman. President of the Jaycees is Joe Faure, also a rancher.

Selection of California's Outstanding Young Farmer will be on a basis of personal interviews and record of development and accomplishment in agriculture.

Flynn, a native of Ducor, began farming in 1956 upon his return from three year's military service, working for his father and developing his own herd of beef cattle.

After the death of his father, the late John M. Flynn, in 1960, he and his sister formed a farming company that today owns 880 acres, leases another 1,247 acres, and manages 897 acres.

Flynn custom farms an additional 2,141 acres and, as executor of his father's estate, manages the estate's 6,815 acres.

In addition to currently serving as chairman of the Ducor Farm Bureau Center, Flynn has served as chairman of the Tulare County Grain Improvement association; as area representative on the Tulare County ASC committee; as a trustee of the Ducor Elementary school district; and as treasurer of the Fountain Springs Fire Control district.

He worked on the advisory committee for application of the Williamson act in Tulare county; he is a member of the Tulare County Cattlemen's association; belongs to the Porterville Lodge of Elks and the Knights of Columbus and is a member of the St. Anne's Catholic church.

He is married to the former Marlene Menne; they have five children; their home is in the farm country south and east of Ducor.

Flynn uses modern methods and ideas in his tillage program, crop rotation, weed control, soil improvement, erosion control, water management, and protection of wildlife and trees.

All of these items are involved in the total appraisal of his farming record by the Outstanding Young Farmer committees at local, state, and national levels.

Rumor has it that Tom Masonheimer will be among those present in the kitchen, and it is doubtful that anyone will crowd out Clyde Simpson as the Mr. Moneybags greeting customers at the door.

Not only do Springville Lions prepare the food and handle the dinner, they get their wives into the act also with home-baked pies and cakes.

Tickets can be obtained from members of the Springville Lions club, or they will be available at the door on February 4.

persons are invited; handling tickets in the Porterville area are Wy Grier, Lester J. Hamilton, Hal Campbell, and Edgar Prestage.

Since his election to congress, Wilson has played an increasingly active role in national Republican affairs. He has served as chairman of the GOP Congressional Campaigns committee since 1961 and he has been a member of the House Armed Services committee since 1953.

Ralph Rosedale, of Dinuba, chairman of the Tulare County Republican Central committee, says, "We are honored to have this outstanding Republican visit Tulare county to help us pay tribute to Abraham Lincoln, founder of the Republican party, and to speak to us on affairs in Washington."

Congressman Mathias, in talking of the Wilson appearance, said "This will give Tulare county people an opportunity to hear first - hand information about national campaign strategy of the Republican party in this election year."

COTTON WIVES HEAR TALK BY DALE ANDERSON

TAGUS - Dale Anderson, of the National Cotton council, was guest speaker at a meeting of the Tulare County Cotton Wives auxiliary held recently at the Tagus Ranch restaurant, telling of activities associated with the selling of cotton.

He said that advertising is the biggest and best medium for selling cotton products, particularly magazine advertising. He said that backing the advertising program is a twenty-six and a half million dollar cotton research program designed to improve cotton products and to develop new products.

Perma press material is the biggest and newest cotton product on the current market, he said.

During a business session, a letter was read from Dennis Morin, a resident of Visalia and a student at Davis who is being sponsored by the Cotton Wives. Members were reminded of the Maid of Cotton selection party at the Visalia Elks club on January 27.

Presiding at the meeting was Mrs. Robert Faltert, of Porterville, president; hostesses were Mesdames Carlton Hooper, Bill Huvelle, and Low Terrell, all of Tulare.

Next meeting of the auxiliary is set for March 13 at the Memorial building in Tipton.

STATE BEEF COUNCIL GIVES TEACHING AIDS

REDWOOD CITY - A new and revised seventh annual edition of the California Beef Council's free home economics teaching aids kit is being distributed to 2,000 high schools and colleges throughout California. According to Council Manager, Walter Rodman, California's schools used over 3.5 million pieces of the Council's material last year and demand for the kits is greater this year than ever before.

DAIRY ASSOCIATION SETS FRESNO MEET

FRESNO - Twelfth annual meeting of the American Dairy association will be held at the Del Webb Townhouse in Fresno, February 6-8. Business of the association and the appearance of prominent speakers will highlight the three-day agenda.
